Cost Effective Solutions For Your Marketing Dollars

Overview

Imaging Network and the Office Furniture Dealers Alliance (OFDA) have joined together to create one of the most important information sources for commercial furnishings dealers and resellers—Office Furniture & Design. By uniting the rich legacy of OFDA's 90-year-old publication, Office Furniture Update, with the publishing expertise of Imaging Network, we've created the go-to source for the office furniture industry.

OFDA and Imaging Network share a vision for Office Furniture & Design magazine: to teach dealers how to run their businesses better. OFD contains compelling, must-read information that dealers rely on to keep abreast of the latest happenings in the industry. OFD is not a publication filled with congratulatory "news" about industry appointments and promotions. We are committed to delivering quality information that will continually educate dealers and give them dependable insight into the business from a bottom-line perspective. Each issue covers issues facing the industry; trends; design ideas and concepts; business management practices; sales, service and marketing techniques; in-depth information on niche markets; and more.

OFD is a trusted source of information, backed by the OFDA's solid reputation, educational resources and extensive research. This market presence guarantees our advertisers access and exposure to the dealer community we serve.

■ We reach a large audience of independent dealers as well as those aligned with the following contract manufacturers:

- Allsteel
- Haworth
- Herman Miller
- Kimball
- Knoll
- Steelcase

■ The office furniture market is an $8 billion per year industry, with ancillary services comprising an additional $25 billion. The independent dealer sales channel sells 69% of office furnishings manufactured each year.
